

EDUCATING FOR A GLOBAL FUTURE

North England launch of the national Global Teachers Award
Manchester Metropolitan University, October 7th 10.30am to 3.30pm

FREE EVENT FOR SCHOOLS

Numbers are limited so book early to ensure a place!

To register and for more information contact

Alison Huntley
0113 380 5655
alison@leedsdec.org.uk

THE CONFERENCE WILL:

- Celebrate good practice in global teaching through the national Educating for a Global Future project
- Create opportunities for sharing experiences and offering critical reflections on what makes good global teaching and learning
- Showcase the new Global Teachers Award
- Deliver CPD training in 'critical literacy' and 'evaluating attitudinal change' tailored to both primary and secondary teachers

PARTICIPANTS WILL:

- Have increased confidence and understanding of how to provide good global teaching
- Gain an enhanced understanding of the approaches to learning which promote critical literacy.
- Gain knowledge of how to access further support in their local area for continuing global learning in the classroom
- Gain skills and confidence in using global teaching activities to evaluate and measure attitudinal changes of pupils

This event is promoted through Leeds DEC's 'Educating for a Global Future' project, in conjunction with the Consortium of Development Education Centres.

www.globalclassrooms.co.uk

